Public Relations Office – URP

www.urp.unibo.it/en

The University Public Relations Office supports access to and use of the university facilities, offering advice and information at its front office as well as remotely via its call centre and e-mail service.

It provides the following services:

- general administrative and teaching information
- information on the services provided by the University
- free information materials
- a service desk for reporting matters and complaints and making suggestions
- two Internet points for access to the University website
- distribution of complimentary tickets to academic ceremonies and to cultural symposia

The University of Bologna is a Multi-campus university with 5 campuses: Bologna, Cesena, Forlì, Ravenna and Rimini. There is a Public Relations Office on each campus

Part-time students

www.unibo.it/PercorsoFlessibile

Students regularly enrolled on a first- or second-cycle degree programme (excluding certain specific programmes) may extend the duration of their studies, taking longer than usual to complete their University career without being considered late or “fuori corso” (past envisaged completion of time for the degree course).

“Student-Athlete” status

www.unibo.it/StudenteAtleta

The “Student-Athlete Dual Career” Project seeks to enable exceptional athletes to reconcile their University studies with a career in competitive sports (dual career), allowing them to obtain a level of training that provides assurance of a sound professional future, even after their retirement from athletics, while also pursuing an intensive sporting career and thus reducing the risk of dropping out.

Service for students with disabilities and SLD

www.studentidisabili.unibo.it

This service supports students with disabilities and specific learning disabilities throughout their studies, from the entrance exam through to graduation. Action guarantees their access to lessons, study materials and exams, identifying the most appropriate solutions for each student, partly via discussions with the teachers concerned.

Students can arrange meetings by appointment, even at the Romagna Campuses, by contacting the operators.

UNIBO has support tutors in the Student Residences, for degree programmes and for students with disabilities and students with learning disorders.

Collegio superiore

www.collegio.unibo.it/en

The Collegio Superiore, part of the Institute for Higher Studies (Istituto di Studi Avanzati) along with the Institute of Advanced Studies, offers excellent additional, interdisciplinary training to deserving, highly motivated students who enrol for a Degree Programme at the University of Bologna. Collegiate students are monitored by a professor; they have exchange opportunities with other Italian and international schools of excellence and may reside at the Institute of Advanced Studies (Istituto di Studi Avanzati). They also receive an annual scholarship and other benefits that are determined each year by the Academic bodies. Access to the Collegio is governed by a formal call for applications and students are required to maintain a good record of achievement on both their degree programme and the supplementary courses provided by the Collegio.

School-Work experience

The University runs integrated School-Work experience programmes for 3rd, 4th and 5th year secondary school students.

These projects, agreed between the secondary school and the University host structure, enable students to focus their thoughts on possible curricula, transversal competencies and University life in general. The Coordination Office arranges both welcome and wrap-up meetings. Students are accompanied by a tutor from the host structure at all times.

Curricular internships

www.unibo.it/CurricularInternships

A curricular internship is an experience that completes the training programme with practical work in structures within or outside the University and qualifies for University educational credits. A curricular internship for dissertation or final examination purposes involves carrying out the practical work necessary to prepare the final report or dissertation, based on a project agreed with the supervisor.

See the degree programme website for information about how to activate an internship, or contact the relevant Internship office.

ER.GO Benefits

www.er-go.it/eng

The Regional Authority for the Right to Higher Education – ER.GO may be able to help you with your university expenses, through study grants and discounts on meals, residential services, international mobility grants, specific funding and financial support for disabled students.

Every year on the website www.er-go.it (usually from July) calls are published for financial aid granted to students according to set requirements based on income and merit

Please note that applications for financial support have different deadlines to those set for registration.

Either if you are transferring to Bologna University, or if you decide to change your study programme, in order to be granted subsidies or reduced fees, your career will be assessed from the year you first enrolled at university, regardless of the university credits you obtained or of the course year you will be enrolled in. That could lead to the loss of any assigned benefits..

To qualify for support, submit an application following the instructions given in the call for applications published in July on the ER.GO website, www.er-go.it and the University of Bologna website www.unibo.it/eng.

Important information for obtaining benefits

The deadlines for applications are: early August for accommodation, late September for study grants, “150 hour” collaboration contracts and other benefits. Applications for benefits may be submitted even before completing registration to the programme.

The deadlines indicated in the ER. GO calls are binding.

Read the calls for application carefully, to check that you meet the income and merit requirements.

Contact ER.GO by July 2019 for information about any changes in how to apply for benefits.

Transfers from another University or change of degree programme: the assessment of merit is made with reference to the first year of matriculation, regardless of the course year in which the student is registered. This might result in the loss of benefits. Please read carefully the ER.GO calls for applications.

www.unibo.it/AgevolazioniEconomiche | www.er-go.it

University Language Centre – CLA

www.cla.unibo.it

The Language Centre (CLA) is the reference point for students wishing to learn foreign languages, or Italian as a second language, for personal or academic purposes. In Bologna, Cesena, Forlì, Ravenna and Rimini, students can enroll in language courses delivered in the classroom, or in “blended” (classroom + e-learning) mode to prepare for the foreign language exams required in their degree programme. Self learning programmes and traditional language courses in English, French, German, Spanish and Arabic (only in Bologna) are also available.

Italian language courses for international students

www.cla.unibo.it/ItalianCourses

The University Language Centre offers Italian language courses starting from A2 level (CEFR) to degree seeking or exchange international students of the University of Bologna. The first course is free with the exception of international students enrolled in Professional Masters and Postgraduate Vocational Training Programmes..

AlmaEnglish

www.unibo.it/AlmaEnglish

This CLA project offers certification exam preparation courses (IELTS, PET) in English and subsidizes student enrollment in the certification exams.

Language tests and certifications

The CLA offers testing and certification of students’ foreign language competency, to satisfy the requirements of degree programmes and international exchange programmes (Erasmus, Overseas).

Libraries

www.sba.unibo.it

The University Library System comprises a broad network of libraries and service points that provide learning support, as well as support for teaching, research, professional and cultural activities. For guidance or help with bibliographic research, either contact the library concerned or use the “Ask the librarian” service (www.chiedialbibliotecario.unibo.it). It is also possible to use the training and self-training services available on-line or offered by each library (www.sba.unibo.it/Formazione). University students can also use the libraries of the Municipality of Bologna (www.bibliotechebologna.it). There are reciprocal arrangements with these libraries for the free loan of books (www.sba.unibo.it/PrestitoCircolante).

Bibliographic resources

Printed documents and electronic collections can be found from the on-line catalogues (www.sba.unibo.it/CataloghiAteneo) and via Almastart (www.sba.unibo.it/AlmaStart), the University discovery tool. The University offers access to a large collection of electronic resources, which can even be consulted from home.

AlmaRE

www.sba.unibo.it/it/almare

Collections acquired: databases, electronic magazines, e-books, on-line dictionaries and encyclopaedias that can even be consulted from home using the assigned username and password via EZproxy AlmaRE (www.ezproxy.unibo.it).

Alma Digital Library

www.sba.unibo.it/almadl
